Fewer Deer Killed.

The kill of deer in the State during the season just closed will be considerably less than in 1922, preliminary reports to the Game Commission indicate. The kill in 1922 was over 6,000 deer, but this year it is believed the number reported will be considerably less.

Scarcity of food in remote regions caused by the drought of last summer and the new requirements for legal antlers are blamed for the decrease in the number of legal deer which fell to the hunters.

Reports to the commission indicate that in many sections which have been protected from fire the young timber has reached a height which has crowded out the undergrowth on which deer feed. This drove many of them to the edges of mountain farms and villages and was responsible for many complaints concerning destruction of crops which were made by farmers.

In 1922 a spike four inches long made legal shooting but in the last season the law required a horn with two points or more. As a safety measure, to give the hunter the benefit of the doubt, a spike six inches in length was made legal. Although a number of bucks with horns under six inches were killed illegally, the commission believes many young spike bucks were saved as a result of the two point requirement.

Although all reports from the game wardens have not been made, the Commission believes sportsmen obeyed the law this year better than ever before. The commission reports that in most instances where illegal deer were killed the men took care of carcass, acknowledged the mistake and paid the $100 fine. If the commission is convinced the sportsman was not careless but fired believing he was shooting at a legal deer, 25 per cent of the fine is remitted.

$25,000 Heart Damage Asked.

Thomas H. O'Neil, a member of the firm of O'Neil Brothers, Hanover, is made the defendant in a $25,000 breach of promise suit filed in United States court at Scranton, by Miss Bernardine Hunter, physical instructor in a convent school for girls in Baltimore. Miss Hunter says that last April she became engaged to O'Neil, whom she had met in the summer of 1920, while employed as a physical instructor near Hanover and that the wedding ceremony was set for Thanksgiving day.

She had all arrangements made for the ceremony, she alleges, when two weeks before O'Neil wrote her calling off the wedding. According to Miss Hunter, O'Neil wrote that they were temperamentally unsuited for each other and that it would be futile for them to wed. As a result Miss Hunter says her feelings have been wounded and she has been held up to ridicule before her friends. In addition she alleges that she spent large sums of money on her wedding gown. She claims to have given up a position paying $150 a month teaching physical culture to girls in a convent in Baltimore.

Suit Against M. C. Jones.

Suit has been instituted in the Court of Common Pleas of York County, by the Lancaster Trust Company, to recover from M. C. Jones and A. R. Nissly $125,000 with interest, less credits aggregating $13,771.49 due on a promissory note to John F. Nissly, of Lancaster, Pa., C. D. Pruden and R. A. McCormick, of Baltimore, Md.; Martin R. Nissly, E. C. Johnston, of Buffalo, N. Y., and M. C. Jones and A. R. Nissly, discounted at said Trust Company.

From the statement filed this note has pledged with it as collateral security 10,000 shares common stock Maryland Vegetable Oil Company and $75,000 first mortgage bonds of the Maryland Vegetable Oil Company, the cost of which said plant and equipment were advised is between $800,000 and $900,000. The other parties on the above note being non-residents of York County, the suit was instituted against Mr. Jones and Mr. Nissly alone.

We understand that since the institution of the suit that the matter is under process of adjustment.

Farrar and Mrs. Oberly, a member of the Rebekahs of Minneapolis, selections by a vocal quartette and several numbers by an orchestra.

Samuel Deardorff, of near Mumbasburg, was a visitor in town on Friday.

More Game For 1924; How To Do It.

The 1923 hunting season is now history. Approximately half a million residents and 2500 non-residents were licensed, and it is estimated that 100,000 or more land owners and their children hunted without the necessity of securing licenses. Most of this large army enjoyed fairly good hunting for practically all kinds of game during the early part of the season, while thousands of others did not find game plentiful in territory where in former seasons they found a sufficient supply to meet reasonable demands of any true sportsman. This latter condition was invariably attributable to a scarcity of natural food or a superabundance of vermin. Over-shooting in previous years was also clearly responsible in some instances. Restocking, no matter how liberal, cannot possibly overcome the handicaps of food scarcity, or the ever-watchful, game-destroying pets of various kinds.

Feeding Game.

The blight has destroyed the chestnuts, frost killed most of the wild grapes, thorn berries and other similar fruits last Spring, beech trees did not bear nuts this year, walnuts and hickory nuts were scarce in most parts of the State, and the only food available for game to feed upon in most sections was acorns. Even acorns failed in some localities. The dry season did not help matters either. The result was that most game was hard pressed and very much scattered this fall in search of food, and in many instances came out to the very edge of the farms, even into the fields, in larger numbers than ever before. As a consequence the slaughter was comparatively easy and sometimes almost spelled annihilation. This was true especially of squirrels, also to some extent of wild turkeys and ruffed grouse. Food must be supplied to the remaining seed stock or they will surely perish in large numbers.

Officers of the game commission will do their best to put up shelters, when necessary, and distribute food to the wild turkeys, ring-neck pheasants, quail, squirrels and other game that needs feed. Ruffed grouse can bud and pull through without feed if actually necessary, but will come through the winter in better shape if food is supplied. This is also true of deer and rabbits. However, the officers themselves can't possibly save the starving thousands of gamebirds and animals without the help of many others.

Every Sportsmen's Organization, Scout Troop, Rural School, R. F. D. Carriers, and individual sportsmen and landowner should make a concerted effort to help feed game and our winter birds of all kinds in as much territory as they can possibly reach. The Game Protectors will gladly assist to the utmost of their ability. A few dollars spent for feeding, shelters and suitable food between now and April 1st will pay big dividends next year.

Vermine Control.

It has been conservatively estimated that more than half the game reared each year is destroyed by vermin of various kinds. A Conventionalist with a nation-wide reputation at a recent Conference stated: "Game will decrease in the next 25 years unless Sportsmen take more care of the seed stock and destroy vermin. Unless this is done, game in America must be handled as it is in England."

In England today nobody but well-to-do sportsmen can enjoy the pleasure of hunting. We in America must do our utmost to stay off a condition of this kind. The best way to do this is for every Sportsman to take an active interest in curbing the ravages of wild life destroyers.

Contests Suggested.

In a number of counties Sportsmen's Organizations have found it advantageous to put on an annual Vermine Contest during the period between January 1st and June 1st, at the end of which prizes, either cash or merchandise, are awarded to the person killing the most vermin. Contests are usually based on a certain number of points for a wildcat, a lower number for a fox, and so on down the list of wild life destroyers, including stray field hunting cats and crows. We will gladly supply information from our bounty records to aid any local committee to check up on a contest of this kind. A small amount of money put up as a prize will bring about the destruction of untold quantities of game destroyers if the contest is conducted on broad lines and given plenty of publicity.

Another good plan to create interest in vermin destruction is for an Organization to choose sides and put on a drive over a certain period, or on certain days, such as New Year's Day, Lincoln's Birthday, Washington's Birthday, Saturday afternoons, etc., and let the losing side pay for a banquet for the entire crowd at the end of the season.

Controlling vermin and feeding game hand in hand. Don't permit the Game Commission to spend $100,000 to buy game for stocking purposes, another $100,000 for bounties, then stand idly by and allow several million dollars' worth of native seed stock to starve or be killed by vermin. Man has upset the balance of nature and must now make a concerted effort to right it. YOU CAN HELP SUPPLY MORE GAME FOR 1924 IF YOU ACT NOW.

Yours more game,
SETH E. GORDON,
Executive Secretary
of Game Commission.

AMERICAN PEACE AWARD.

Winner Has Already Received $50,000.

Announcement will be made on Monday, January 7, of the winner of the American Peace Award. The winner received this week one-half of the award. Only 3,000 words were used by the author whose plan was selected by the Jury of Award from the 22,000 manuscripts submitted for the $100,000 prize established by Edward W. Bok for the American Peace Award. The terms of the contest permitted the entrants to use 5,000 words in outlining "a practicable plan by which the United States may co-operate with other nations looking toward the prevention of war." Under the terms of Mr. Bok's offer, half the award was paid to the winner at once. The other $50,000 will be paid when the plan has gained the approval of a majority in the nationwide balloting that will follow publication of the plan.

The "referendum" which is planned to reach at least 50,000,000 voters in the country, will be carried on through the co-operation of 5,000 newspapers that have agreed to carry a digest of the plan and ballots, and through 90 co-operating organizations that have State and local headquarters. In addition, representative groups of public-spirited men and women are preparing to obtain an expression of opinion through churches, clubs, commercial bodies and organizations of this character.

It is estimated that the returns will be tabulated, duplicates discarded and a complete count made in the national headquarters in New York by February 1. If this proves that a majority of the voters approve the winning plan in substance the second $50,000 will be awarded.

The Compiler of next week will contain the plan and all our readers are urged to read the winning plan carefully and then to sign the accompanying ballot for or against the plan and send the ballot to the address indicated.

Toast For All Of Us.

Toast to the left of us, toast to the right of us, toast in front of us, toast behind us—behold! toast, that autocat of the breakfast table, which when cold is flat and markedly unpalatable, and when hot and properly spread with molten butter, satisfies many a morning appetite, is being called upon to solve a national problem. The Wheat Council of the United States has announced the beginning of a strenuous effort to popularize the eating of this delicacy, and thereby increase the consumption of what, to the ultimate benefit of the financially embarrassed farmer, The Council explains:

"The wheat farmer's troubles are due to the fact that he has produced too much wheat. The American people are not eating as much wheat as they did before the war and foreign countries no longer need the United States as a source of wheat supply. During the war the people were urged to eat less wheat, while the farmer was besought to grow more. The time has come to reverse the war processes and until this is done the 2,235,000 farmers who grow wheat cannot prosper."

Wherefore, efforts are being concentrated on the eat-more-wheat campaign, and toast is being lauded as the attractive, appetite-tickling delight which is expected to put a little bulge in the wheat farmer's pocketbook. The movement is being organized in various large cities, and at the same time the General Federation of Women's Clubs and numerous civic organizations are co-operating to make the undertaking a success. According to the Wheat Council, the United States Department of Agriculture and national farmers' organizations, including the American Farm-Bureau Federation, are working toward the same end. "Toast it is to be, then, and therefore, if you can shed a tear for the wheat farmer—don't—instead, eat toast."

EAT MORE WHEAT.

American Legion Growing Fast.

The American Legion membership is in the most healthy condition since its organization, according to Lemuel Bolles, National Adjutant of the organization.

Figures received here show that thirty five per cent more members are paid up at this time than there were on the corresponding date of 1922.

"These figures are not propaganda," declared Mr. Bolles. "They are facts." "Enemies of the Legion who try to discredit it with a 'failing interest', 'lack of program', or similar reasons, are in the main, foes of adjusted compensation, but their opposition to that recognition of the veterans' service, but has served to unify former service men and women."

According to Mr. Bolles, many of the larger posts of the Legion have announced completion of "Five Hundred Clubs" which include as an essential honor the first five hundred men to pay their 1924 dues. In at least three cities where post membership numbers more than 1,000 each, these clubs have already been completed, though this mark has seldom been attained before March 1 in previous years. Sales of official jewelry, said Mr. Bolles, especially for Christmas gifts, showed an increase of three times that of 1922. In three days mail, orders for more than one thousand emblematic belts were received, he said.

Contracted Cold at a Billy Sunday Revival

Developed Into Systemic Catarrh Recommends PE-RU-NA

Mr. A. R. Wilson, LaFollette, Tenn.

The letter written a short time ago by Mr. A. R. Wilson of LaFollette, Tenn., brings some more direct evidence of the value of Pe-ru-na in the treatment of catarrhal diseases.

It reads as follows:—"While attending Billy Sunday's great revival at Knoxville, Tenn., last February I contracted a cold which weakened my entire system. I have taken only three bottles of Pe-ru-na and feel like a new man. It is a great system builder as well as a great catarrh remedy."

To attempt to even estimate the thousands who, in the last half century, have come to know and appreciate the merits of Pe-ru-na would be worse than useless. The number is astonishing and increasing daily.

Your nearest dealer has Pe-ru-na in both tablet and liquid form. Insist upon having Pe-ru-na, the original treatment for catarrh.

FARMING IN 1923-1924.

By Henry C. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture.

The industry, courage and faith evidenced by the farmers of the Nation during the past three years are slowly bringing their reward. Improvement in agricultural conditions continues—not as rapidly as desired or needed, nor as rapidly as deserved, but nevertheless it continues. The promise of the year has been fulfilled.

So we come to the end of the third year of post-war depression with a feeling of greater confidence born of better times already realized and with justified hope of still further improvement in 1924.

In general, the crops of 1923 were good. Some sections in the cotton belt and in the wheat belt suffered from the ravages of weather and insect pests, but the aggregate crop production was equal to the average of the five preceding years.

Considering money return we find that the values of most crops are greater than in 1922. The total value of all crops is 12 per cent greater. The values of the wheat, rye, rice, clover seed, cranberry, peach and pear crops are below 1922; in the case of wheat 11 per cent below. The values of all other important crops are greater.

It is difficult to measure the productive value of livestock during the year, dependent as it is upon crops marketed in that form. In general, it has been a prosperous year for sheep growers, fairly good for dairymen, less satisfactory for producers of hogs, and discouraging for growers of range cattle. Cattle feeders, however, have done very well on the whole.

There are discouraging conditions still to be overcome. There is the burden of debt. There are heavy taxes to be met. The cost of production and of what the farmers buy remains high. Farmers in the spring wheat territory especially are in sore straits from conditions largely beyond their control.

Experience gained during these years of depression, however, together with progress already made, warrant a hopeful attitude for the coming year. Gradually crop acreage is being better adjusted. The domestic market continues strong. The children keep coming, and that means a steadily increasing number of mouths to be fed. Those who stay by the farm and do good farming can look forward to better times as a reward for their years of toil and hardship. Those whose businesses depend directly upon farm purchases can find decided encouragement in the growing gross income of the farmer, for he will buy as his income expands.

The year 1924 comes with the promise of continued improvement in the material prosperity of the farmer, and the farmer continues to be the material and spiritual backbone of the Nation.

—Mr. and Mrs. Mark Eckert entertained the Tuesday evening club at a New Year's Eve party at their home on Springs avenue on Monday evening. A most unique entertainment was provided in a Village School, where the host as Schoolmaster and the guests as scholars in fantastic costumes spent a most enjoyable evening.

Wm. J. Koch, Carlisle street has purchased from Mrs. Minnie Tresler a ten acre farm in Franklin township at private sale. Mr. Koch will occupy the farm on April 1st.

Scheme to Restore Prosperity to the Country and Relieve Cities of Surplus Population.

One of the most urgent demands upon the present session of Congress is for legislation to re-habilitate the farmer, and incidentally the whole country—by guaranteeing a sure market and minimum price for wheat to be paid directly to the producer upon delivery of his product at any "contract market."

The minimum price to be guaranteed need not be the full value of wheat, nor even the cost of its production. Assurance of a sure market and a certain price, even $1.20 per bushel—will suffice for the first year, beginning July 1, 1924; for two years next following the price should be advanced to $1.50; and for the next two to $1.80 per bushel, although the actual cost of raising wheat is, at least, two dollars a bushel.

This intervention by the Government will relieve the bankers from their task of financing and dominating the farmers and will not discharge the speculators from their practices and daily regulation of its market-price, regardless of the law of supply and demand. Within the restrictions imposed by the Grain Futures Act, they may continue, without the ruinous result which follows depression of the price, below the minimum guaranteed.

By the provisions of the Grain Futures Act, passed September 21, 1922 all dealers in grain for inter-state commerce are placed under supervision of the Secretary of Agriculture and Rules are prescribed for their license and conduct and to each is given the designation of a "contract market". By complying with these requirements every "contract market" becomes an agency of the U. S. Government, and may be authorized to act in that capacity in dealing with the farmers. Among the advantages of this plan will be the elimination of intermediaries. The inexperienced farmer will be relieved of the duty of battling for legislation relative tariff and charges for transportation.

Wheat, alone, of all the grains raised and marketed by the husbandman is selected for the favorable legislation sought; and it is expected that maintenance of a ready market and a fair price for this product alone will restore prosperity to the whole country. Also, that when the country is made prosperous and beautiful, and the life, home, and surroundings of farmers made attractive, the depopulation drain of its population to cities will be arrested. This consideration, alone, deserves the attention of Congress and of all good citizens—for if life in the country be made prosperous and comfortable, nothing more will be needed to allure thither a large proportion of the surplus population of cities.

Along with wheat, similar legislation is desired to establish certain local markets for cotton with guarantee of a fair minimum rate of from ten to fifteen cents per pound payable directly to the planter who produces and markets it.

No immense fund would be needed for these guarantees, for the products themselves will always be worth the price. This scheme—which is called the P. D. F. Plan, will therefore, not interfere with the proposed reduction of taxes, nor the Bonus for Disabled Veterans.

JOHN R. KUHN.

All the money and credit required may be supplied as provided by Section 12 of the Grain Futures Act—U. B. Monitor.

President Coolidge, in his Message to Congress, having declared against all the plans submitted to his experts, at least, ostensibly designed to release the farmer of wheat from domain of the financial interests which oppress him, and recommended that he try co-operation, which, in the estimation of farmers, is simply impossible; it seems desirable to advance P. D. F. Plan.

Something must be done to restore prosperity to the Country, and this simple, socialistic plan, with such improvements and precautions as may be added by its friends in course of discussion, may suffice.

Against the argument that guaranteed minimum price would fix that price as the maximum, is the expectation that the speculators will continue their gambling, and that prices will advance and decline, according to daily reports and the weather, and that the law of supply and demand may be allowed to intervene and continue.

No apprehension need be felt that there will be an over-supply, until the price exceeds two dollars per bushel. There is, however, cause for dread that the supply may become inadequate. What that would mean to city dwellers must be considered. Already we are advised that the acreage sown in Winter Wheat has been diminished in Kansas one-third. Suppose other States follow this course and the importation of two hundred million bushels of wheat from Canada be cut off by imposition and radical collection of higher tariff. All declarations about our having a surplus of wheat are untrue. The supply this year does not exceed seven hundred million bushels, and of this five hundred million are needed for domestic use, allowing five bushels for each of our one hundred million population. Then, about 50,000,000 bushels are required for seed-wheat, and a few more millions for the strangers within our gates.

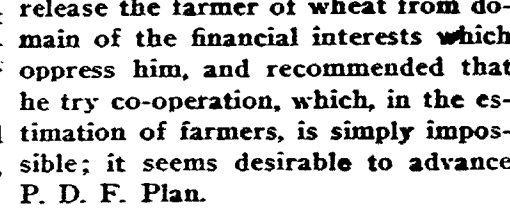

Legislators should not be so mean in their treatment of farmers; nor allow them to be ground down to the dust like serfs, peasants, fellahs, and the low caste tillers of the soil in other countries. Our farmers and their friends and dependents, whose financial fortune rises and falls with their own, must insist upon fair treatment by the present Congress, or diligently exert their influence in selection of better legislative representatives. Among their friends should be counted the man and woman voters who reside in the cities and depend upon wheat and cotton for their food and raiment.

The plan here advocated would not increase the cost of bread, but, would decrease the cost of cotton from its present high price of 36 cents per pound, which is ridiculously higher than the price allowed for wool, 35 cents per pound, although the tariff against importation of wool is 31 cents per pound.

May farmers be expected to sincerely advocate the reduction of taxes now imposed against the immense fortunes acquired and held by those who continue to oppress them. Surely, the welfare of the city dwellers is involved in restoration of prosperity to agriculturists.

"WHEN MY BABY WAS RUN-DOWN"

Father John's Medicine Helped Him Gain Weight

"My baby was sick, pale, and run down. One of my neighbors recommended Father John's Medicine and since giving it to him he has felt fine and has no colds. He has also gained weight. I am giving it to all my children." (Signed) Mrs. Rose De Pontilard, Shirley, Mass.

For children who are pale and thin, who suffer from repeated colds, Father John's Medicine has proven its value for more than 68 years. It builds new strength because it is pure and wholesome nourishment.

Agricultural Extension Association.

The above is the new name for the Adams County Farm Bureau, three long words taking the place of two short ones, as decided at the last meeting of the late Bureau, Thursday morning, E. F. Strassbaugh, treasurer, submitted his report at the morning session. One hundred farmers and their wives were present at the luncheon in St. James social rooms and were entertained with music. At the afternoon session for the farmers' wives and children in Xavier Hall addresses were made by Mrs. Margaret Brown, a specialist of State College, and Miss Pearl Shackelford, Farm Bureau Agent R. E. Underwood made his report for year to the meeting in Court House. 556 visits were made to farms in county and 788 personal calls were made by farmers to office. At the 178 meetings held in county the attendance was 85,275 persons. Other details were: Circular letters written, 4,874; personal letters written, 6,171; farm contracts, 1,962; miles traveled by rail, 3,389; miles traveled by automobile, 12,818; number of days spent in field, 228; number of days spent in office, 72; number of demonstrations held, 26; total attendance at demonstrations, 296.

Treasury Savings Certificates.

The new issue of Treasury Savings Certificates offered by the Secretary of the Treasury with a higher rate of interest, are in great demand in this District, according to the advices received from George E. Lloyd, Savings Director of the Third Federal Reserve District.

Because of their absolute safety they are found most popular among the people of moderate income—wage-earners, salaried people, farmers and many professional men.

The Certificates are backed by the United States Government, mature in five years, and yield 4 1/2 per cent per annum, compounded semi-annually if held until maturity, and 3 1/2 per cent, compounded semi-annually, if cashed before maturity.

Briefly: The $25 Certificate now costs $20; the $100 Certificate now costs $80; and the $1,000 Certificate now costs $800; bringing the owner at maturity $25, $100 and $1,000 respectively.

Local postmasters and the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia handle these Certificates.

RICHARD LLOYD JONES SAYS

"The Crowd is Lost Without a Leader"

Plodders are legion. It is the master of men who are few. Plodders make up the rank and file of humanity. They comprise the many common people whom, as Lincoln said, God surely must have loved since he made so many of them.

Plodders are not without their virtues. They are stable, reliable, industrial. They are the foundation of Society.

They are a tremendous, slow but constantly moving force. They carry along all the good from the past ages through which they have traveled.

Civilization advances no faster than they permit it, yet they never design their own course. They control only the pace of their march. To the few rare souls of clear vision has nature handed the gift of leadership, they who direct the way of the march. To them only is given imagination. It is they who depict on the curtain of the future the next right move for the masses to make.

The masters are the men who dare march ahead and alone. Because of their confidence, the plodders put confidence in them and follow them. Age limits leadership. The leader must express the new or be supplanted by him who represents that which is new. Every champion is some day confronted by his better. Youth is bold and leaps ahead.

Masters are never afraid. As soon as timidity controls they cease to be masters.

It is only the man who is subservient to the truth who wears an armor which nothing can penetrate. Back in the ranks are the doubters, grumblers, stumblers. Their protests are silenced by the plodders. To bear them forward, willingly or unwillingly, on the great march.

Sometimes the whole mass seems to fall back. But the masters do not fear. They know the light of the star will lead them on again.

The Farmer Won't Be Fooled

Whatever may be public opinion in reference to a soldiers' bonus, whether approval spring from the welling of gratitude in the American heart, or disapproval come from calm examination of the country's finances, Senator Smoot, who opposes the bonus, is likely to stub his toe in his proposition to meet the emergency by establishing a sales tax. And he is not likely to fool the farmer by alluding to his proposed bill as an "expenditure tax."

The people are already taxed to death.

The farmer already is suffering severely from having to pay exorbitant prices for the things he has to buy while obtaining very low prices for what he has to sell, and, unquestionably a sales tax will not lessen this burden. The Senator who admittedly is one of the country's foremost experts in taxation, tries to cross this bridge and assuage the farmer by providing that all expenditures below $6,000 shall be exempt from the proposed tax, but it is difficult to see how this will affect the farmer any more than any other class of our citizens.

The expenditures of the farmer as a fact are usually on a larger scale than the expenditures of men personally engaged in many other industries. Moreover, Senator Smoot should remember if there is one characteristic that stands out in the man with the hoe it is the spirit of fair play which always bespeaks opposition to class legislation. The farmer's cry is for a square deal. He does not ask anyone to discriminate in his favor. All he asks is that the government shall not discriminate against him. No matter how sincere the senator from Utah may be, the farmer will not silently agree to be placed in a position where he may be pointed to as accepting benefits under a system of class legislation when he has consistently and persistently protested against this sort of thing. He knows, too, the ills from which he suffers never can be soled by any sales tax, and that the proposed exemption is aimed only at obtaining his approval of a measure that will add a still greater burden to the American people.

If Senator Smoot wants to find a way to meet the soldiers' bonus problem, let him approach the task from a different angle. The farmer is opposed to a sales tax, call it what you will, and he won't be misled by the exemption clause.

Advertisements are trade announcements that effect almost every phase and hour of our lives. The folks who don't read them lose out to the fellow who does. He buys better and constantly adds to his store of knowledge, which is education.

Motorcycle policemen should wear uniforms. The sight of a uniform stops speeding. That is the aim of the law—not to trap reckless drivers and gather in fines to ease up local taxes.

The Mellon Tax Saving Plan.

The proposed Mellon Tax Saving plan, which Congress is supposed to enact into some kind of a law before they are through with it, was made public this week. The tables show how the saving on incomes up to $6,000 by a single person, a married person without dependent children and a married person with two dependent children and the reductions would be considerable in all classes. It is estimated that the reductions, according to the plan would turn back into industry, several hundred millions of dollars. It remains to be seen what the outcome will be.
